

Table

The Table widget offers a simple, quick way of adding or importing tables to Frog.

Its most powerful feature is the import option, which can take a table from your clipboard and paste it directly into the page.

In this example, I've copied the table from this guide, copied it to my clipboard and then used the Import option to paste the contents into the widget.

I can change all the text contents and their formatting.

I can add rows, columns and even copy the contents of one slide to the next and I can resize the table using the resize options.

The text formatting options appear when I click on the contents of a cell, so I can change the font size, add images and links etc...

If you want more control over your table, it is worth looking at the table options in the Text widget